Tina, female, born May 2007. A small dog. Found in Velez Malaga.

Buddy, male, born April 2008 A small dog. Thrown over the refuge fence.

Grace, female, about a 2 year old. A large friendly dog, golden retriever/mastiff cross.

If you could be the right family for any of these dogs or would like more information about other dogs then please phone Lola on 657219269 or Linda on 628676764 or email apariv@billnot.com. More dogs can be seen on our website, www.apariv.org.

We desperately need more helpers at the refuge. You can help by walking the dogs or grooming the dogs or just sitting and talking to the nervous dogs. THIS DEAL COMES FROM a French Simultaneous Pairs.

South opened one no-trump, which was raised to three no-trumps, with no intervention from east-west.

West led the ten of spades to south's king. South now played the ace of clubs followed by the six to the nine, taken by east's king. East returned a spade and declarer made his contract: five clubs, two top diamonds and two top spades.

East should have ducked the second club to await a discard from west. (There was no chance that the club winner was going to run away.) On the third club west could have thrown away the nine of spades. The only reason for discarding a useful card in that suit was that he did not want partner to return it.

Now the return of the nine of hearts followed by the king would have defeated the contract.

There is an important principle here. Particularly in a no-trump contract it can pay in defence to delay taking a certain winner until your partner has run out of the suit and can give a discard indicating the best line of play.
